

BACK-YARD FRONTIER

by Polly Bradley
Meditation Before
Six Garbage Cans

I sit by my window, peacefully contemplating six garbage cans, full. The great question on our street today is, "Will the garbage man come?" He's two days late already—and our town uses the Saugus dump, whose status changes daily, now open, now closed. The official line is, "Don't worry," but the local rumor factory must be paying time-and-a-half these days.

The most encouraging sign of public awareness is that on Monday morning an unusual number of men were noted stomping up and down in their garbage cans to make them hold more garbage.

The local hardware store reports a great run on garbage cans—everyone is buying a few extras in case of emergency.

However, according to the local grocery store, there has been no decrease in sale of items in disposable containers.

That's typical of our town's approach to the problem. Think a week ahead, but for long term planning the catch approach will do well, we might as well go stick our heads in a garbage can and face the problem head-on.

What do we need—not only here but everywhere in our affluent society? Indiscriminate local dumping is no answer; we're filling up valuable and irreplaceable fields and marshlands, and the rubbish is only going to get more plentiful as people get more numerous and land gets more scarce. To deal with our wastes we need the best modern technology, which is more expensive than any one town can handle by itself. The towns need to get together and plan ahead.

At the moment, regional high-efficiency incinerators, regulated to produce a minimum of air pollution, seem to be the best approach. However, eventually technology must produce a better answer: what we really should do is recycle our wastes, so that we don't throw away valuable minerals. But right now, regional incinerators have my vote.

What does NOT have my vote is using the islands in the Boston harbor for dumping grounds, as someone has suggested. How short-sighted can you get? There's more boating every year so more people enjoy those untrampled spots far from the arms of the spider highway. Those islands are worth their weight in gold to anyone who considers human happiness and delight to have a penny or two of value. They should be kept as safe from exploitation as the gold in Fort Knox.

Anyway, there aren't enough islands on earth to solve the garbage problem—even if we decided to solve the entire U. S. garbage problem by evacuating Hawaii and shipping all our trash there on the Queen Elizabeth. Instead, suppose we try some foresight and some co-operation between the towns.

Of course it takes time to build incinerators. I hear tell that the Saugus dump situation

GILEAD

Mrs. Clifford O. Cole, Cor. — Jerry Tyler and Fernand Coriveau were lucky hunters last week.

Charles McLain of Peabody, Mass., is at his camp on the North Road in Gilead.

George Decoster is enjoying a vacation from his work at Berlin, N. H.

Woodrow MacArthur had a vacation from his work last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jill Couillard returned to Canada Sunday after spending their honeymoon with his grandmother, Mrs. Octavia Coriveau, and his uncle, Fernand Coriveau and family.

Is an emergency. What? Even the local rumor factory wasn't shocked on this one. It was common knowledge at least two years ago that the Saugus dump would have to be closed in a couple of years. And every town in New England knows it will face the problem sooner or later.

Did our town think the garbage problem would "fold up its tents like the Arabs and silently steal away"? Of course, vanishing is a possible solution—if the garbage man doesn't come soon, the town may sink into the sea under the weight of its own accumulated debris.

I'm not worrying, though I just bought six shiny, new garbage cans, and I'm prepared for any eventuality. One must think ahead. I'm sure the tranquil day will come when the memory of this will be sheer poetry. As Wordsworth said, poetry arises from "emotion recollected in tranquillity."

Tranquillizer, anyone?

Several lucky hunters on this river: Mrs. Jeannine Fleet, 1st day; Douglas Clogston, Chris Nowlin, 3rd day; Red Noyes got his the second day. There were several others that do not live in town that got deer and one bear.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Andrews, the other hunters, Raymond Schuh of Woodbury Heights, N. J., and Alton Temple of Wellesley, Mass., who stayed in a trailer, have returned home, too.

Hunters staying with Mrs. Olive Spinney are Owen Warren and Harold Byloff of Cromwell, Conn.

Ray Andrews is gaining slowly from his recent surgery.

TAKES THE LIFTING OUT OF DRIFTING ALL OVER

BETHEL

It's no secret. An Ariens Sno-Thro costs lots more than a snow shovel. It should, it does much more. For one thing, a 2-stage Ariens cuts through after-blizzard drifts quickly, dependably. Takes on any type snow—clean it easily. An Ariens Sno-Thro gives you a feeling of power—a way of putting Old Man Winter in his place. All Ariens Sno-Thros have 4 forward speeds, power reverse, directional discharge chute. The Eze-Start 4 has 5 hp, 6 hp and 7 hp engines are winterized for dependable get-up-and-go performance. NEW! LOCK-OUT DIFFERENTIAL Standard on Models 10M-6D, 10M-7D. Available for Models 10M-6 and 10M-5. Why don't you, too, get a lift out of it with a new 1968 Ariens Sno-Thro.

EAST STONEHAM

— Gladys Kilgore, Corres. —

Open House was held at the School Wednesday. Much credit is due the teachers.

Helen Grover is in Fryeburg this week taking care of Mr. and Mrs. Wright's children while they are away. Mr. Wright is manager of Severance Lodge.

Vesta Nelson and Gladys Kilgore went to Norway Saturday.

Mrs. Iva Jones, who has been ill, is under the doctor's care.

Albert Yemma has returned to his home after being in the hospital at Bridgton.

Beth Grover was home over the week end from New York, where she is attending college.

Bradley Nelson and Donnie Stearns were also home from Bangor where they are attending Husson College.

The youngsters were out in full force Tuesday evening. I had forty-three call here. The three outstanding costumes were worn by Carol Buck as a witch; Andrea Barker as Cinderella, and Martha Grover as a beautiful yellow cat.

Mrs. Read from Belfast is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dwight Grover and family.

Buddy Rhodes from Massachusetts was a visitor at the Albert Nelson home over the week end.

Mrs. Mae Hobson and daughter Shirley Jellerson, visited Blanche Flanders Thursday.

Mrs. Florence Draper has closed her house for the winter months and gone to Florida.

Clinton Andrews from Lovell called on friends here Thursday.

NEWRY

Charge it, then worry?

Are we living in a money's-no-obj., cost-owing-now-pay-later world?

The answer is "yes" if you listen to some people. But if you listen to us the answer is "no". And we have $880,000 that says we're right.

That's the amount of money we're mailing to a lot of good-guy, cash-paying customers who were proud enough to save ahead with a Casco Christmas Club during '67.

If you join now . . . you can enjoy the Club's benefits next year. Use the coupon or stop in at any of the 26 offices serving the people of Southwestern Maine.

Come next November you'll still be saying "Charge it!" . . . but without the worry.

Please send me information on how to start a Casco cash for Christmas Club

The 3rd and 4th grades enjoyed a Halloween party Tuesday afternoon when the room mothers, Mrs. George Waterhouse and Mrs. Leslie Thurlow brought refreshments of new cider, donuts and cup cakes to the children for refreshment. Games were played after displaying the costumes.

The costume prizes were awarded as follows: Best looking, 3rd, Maryann Knight; 4th, Tena Linsbeck; Best Halloween, 3rd, Brian Dunham; 4th, Kellie Wing; Most Horrible Costume, 3rd, James Hoyt; 4th, Susan McKee.

Perfect attendance for the first term, 3rd: Dale Buck, Mark Dugan, Stobhan Flynn, Bruce Hart, Nelson Hart, James Hoyt, Kelly Ingraham, Ayis Kennison, Mary Ann Knight, Ayis Kennison, Lloyd Poland, Sharon Silver, Susan Ellsworth. For the 4th: Rebecca Cobb, Richard Croteau, Deborah Dugan, Dennis Farrow, Sandra Gammon, Irene Howe, Tena Linsbeck, Jeffrey Little, Peggy Little, Noland Martin, Terry Martin, Susan McKee, Kevin Mills, Tamara Mills, Kathy Morgan, Lellani Poland, Kelli Riley, Sherry Roberts, Alan Seames, Roland Walker Jr., Kellie Wing, Warren Ellsworth.

Those shooting deer the first week of hunting were Frank Campbell (10 point buck) Kenneth Kennison and Mrs. Leon Poland.

Donald Mason has finished putting water in his trailer from his artesian well that he had drilled near his garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis took in the cupper and Grange meeting at West Paris Saturday night. Mary Billings and Olive Davis attended a faculty meeting Monday night held at school at Woodstock High School.

ANARCHY VERSUS RESPONSIBILITY

Much of the disorderly conduct and destruction of property that is carried on today in the name of freedom and independence of the individual is a sheer insult to the high principles of human liberty. Alexis De Tocqueville observed in 1835, as he commented on the unique qualities of the American experiment: "The revolution of the United States was the result of a mature and reflecting preference for freedom, and not of a vague or ill-defined craving for independence. It contracted no alliance with turbulent passions of anarchy but its course was marked, on the contrary, by a love of order and law. It was never assumed in the United States that the citizen of a free country has a right to do whatever he pleases. On the contrary, more social obligations were there imposed upon him than anywhere else." De Tocque-

"SOMETHING FROM HOME"

BEST GIFT, SERVICEMEN SAY

"Something personal" from the loved ones at home topped the list of Christmas gifts preferred by servicemen overseas, according to a survey just completed by American Red Cross workers serving with U. S. forces around the world.

Family snapshots and portraits, voice tapes, hometown newspapers, and many more letters were the most frequent gift suggestions made by servicemen in Europe, Korea, Japan, Vietnam, and at other military posts overseas. Another timely tip for the folks back home was to use hometown newspapers as packing in holiday parcels to give the serviceman additional enjoyment as he catches up on the latest news from home.

Almost important as the gifts themselves is the need to mail them in sufficient time for delivery before Christmas Day, the Red Cross said. U. S. Post Office deadlines for overseas mailings are November 10, if by surface, or December 10, if by air mail. Many families mail their gifts a week or two in advance of these dates, it was pointed out.

Other gifts high on the list of preferred items included paperbacks, books, magazines, small puzzles and tabletop games, stationery with self-sealing envelopes, brand name articles known as the serviceman's preference, and even extra money for leaves or purchase of small items from foreign countries.

Home-baked foods such as cake or cookies are always welcome, but such perishable gifts are usually not practical gifts for a serviceman in distant tropical areas like Southeast Asia. Individually wrapped hard candy and cookies in metal containers may arrive unspoiled, but even this is not certain.

The Red Cross discovered that the average serviceman likes gifts with a touch of home because they are more personal and meaningful than luxury items which they can often buy themselves for less money in military post exchanges.

Family gifts should vary according to a man's military location. Depending on climate, coats, sweaters, and other articles of clothing will be welcome if the serviceman is in an area where he can wear civilian clothes when off duty.

The Red Cross followed closely the expressed wants of American servicemen in its Shop Early program. Chapters and organizations' words are particularly apt at the present time.

COLLEGE OFFICIALS PRAISE COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES

Thomas College officials have praised efforts of citizens of communities in the area, other parts of Maine, and out-of-state, where Dollars for Scholars programs are active or being organized.

President John L. Thomas Jr. of Thomas College, and Ford A. Grant, college treasurer, both Waterville, said a number of students enrolled at Thomas are being aided by Dollars for Scholars programs, mainly from this area.

In the Central Maine area, Waterville, Winslow and Skowhegan have active Dollars for Scholars groups. Augusta and Gardiner are other Central Maine communities interested in the program.

President Thomas said citizens and communities where such programs are underway deserve praise and credit for their most worthwhile contribution toward helping young people achieve a college education.

The college president and others at Thomas, including some faculty and staff actively involved in Dollars for Scholars' committee projects in various area communities, cited the "grass-roots" efforts, including large amounts of volunteer time and energy which go into such programs. Dollars for Scholars programs include volunteer committees, often working with young people or as members or as part of cooperating groups, raising funds within a community to help worthy students from that city or town to finance a college education.

Massachusetts was among early state leaders in the Dollars for Scholars program.

Beyond the Central Maine area, other Maine communities with active Dollars for Scholars groups, include Portland, Biddeford, Bath, Brunswick, Cape Elizabeth, Cumberland, Falmouth, Gorham, Norway, South Paris, Scarborough, South Portland, Westbrook, Wadsworth and Yarmouth.

Throughout the United States have packed special gift bags with useful personal gifts and shipped them to Vietnam for the Army holiday season delivery. More than 525,000 were prepared enough for each service man in that country to receive an individual bag. Of these, 2,000 were generally filled with feminine articles for women serving in the armed forces there. Included in the gifts were many and varied popular items such as playing cards, ball point pens, paperback books, writing paper, tapes for recorded messages, assorted games and toilet articles.

pre-school age children. Until their formal education begins, Eskimo children have little or no exposure to any language other than their own native dialect. They are severely handicapped when enrolled in English-conducted elementary school classes. One of Merz's first projects was to help organize and conduct a daily Head Start Program.

Adult education classes followed. There are no facilities for higher education in Akhiachak. Although many children now complete their education by attending high schools outside the village, most adults more than 40 years old have had five or less years of schooling.

Many adult learning sessions take place in individual homes. It seems to me that one of the most valuable and enjoyable parts of the work are the informal house visits. One day Merz and I went to a house where a man was reading a book. He had never attended school before.

Whether explaining comparative shopping or attending an all-day session for a training program, the volunteers must try to introduce new ideas to the villagers. The village has often found it easier to explain a mechanical concept than a social one.

The Akhiachak Volunteers are doing a very effective job of VISTA due to Bill Cook. It is particularly noteworthy because they are working in such an isolated environment.

The village of Akhiachak is situated at the end of the village. Eskimo have built a small house where they live. Eskimo women have a cluster in the square which served a general store, an elementary school building, an assembly and a Merz station.

Merz and the VISTA team have been to a ceremony where a new house was dedicated. It is a beautiful log cabin. One corner of the house is walled off for a bathroom.

One of the best of the Akhiachak houses is the Merz house. It is a beautiful log cabin. One corner of the house is walled off for a bathroom.

The VISTA team has a lot of fun. When they do feel that they are doing a good job, it means quite a change to them. Notice that the team is not only doing a good job, but they are also having fun. They are doing a good job and having fun.

It is a very good thing that the VISTA team is doing a good job. They are doing a good job and having fun. They are doing a good job and having fun.

TELSTAR STUDENT COUNCIL HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF THIS SCHOOL YEAR

The Student Council for Telstar Regional High School held its first meeting of the year on Wednesday, Nov. 1, at Crescent Park. This group, which was formed last year, serves as a representative of student opinion for planning the new school. Its principal objectives this year are to formulate an activity program, compile a student handbook, make a preliminary student council constitution, and to decide upon a school song. Aside from this, the council will express student opinion on topics ranging from dress codes to curriculum.

The members of this council represent Andover High School, Gould, and Woodstock. From Andover are June Bailey, Beverly Conledge, and Helen Glover; Gould is represented by Vicki Brown, Wanda Davis, Susie Farris, and Ruth Tebbets; and Woodstock representatives are Roger Owen, Linda Koskela, and Clayton York. At the first meeting, Ruth Tebbets was elected chairman and Linda Koskela secretary.

Survival is always the main concern. There are only three year-round permanent jobs in the town: one maintenance position at the school and two at the general store. There is also some seasonal work available in nearby communities. Sometimes, there is construction work. Other than these short, seasonal job opportunities, there are no jobs in Akhiachak.

Survival is a family affair. The men hunt, fish, and trap food for their families. Akhiachak women cut the fish for drying and cutting, and also animals. They also feed the children, cook, bake bread, and sew native garments like mukluks (three high boots) and kamiks (native dresses).

Isolated from innovation, these people have learned to exist comfortably within the conditions forced upon them. But living, Merz insists, should be more than a struggle for existence. One of Akhiachak's expanded the original VISTA activities. Together with the village council president, she supervised the two Neighborhood Youth Corps workers during their summer village cleanup campaign.

She also organized and instructed 20 children in a 4-H gardening experiment. In a variety of ways, she and the village council have been able to help the village. The project was a success. The children were very happy. The project was a success. The children were very happy.

The Gould football team entertains rival Hall-Dale on Saturday, Nov. 11 in the season's final. Game time is 1:30.

Hoping to end the season on a winning note will be many seniors, including Captain Mark Vail, Ed Deegan, Gary Swan, Dennis Durgin, Dick Waldron and Andy Inman.

ANTIQUE AUTO CLUB

ATTENDS HOULTON MEET

This past week end four members of the Molluskett Chapter of the Maine Obsolete Auto League attended the first international gathering between the MOAL organization and the New Brunswick Antique Auto Club held at Houlton, Maine.

The four attending members, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fraser, left Bethel Saturday afternoon, taking route 2 to Skowhegan, Bangor and spending the night. They arrived in Houlton around 9:30 and crossed the border into Woodstock, N. B., for a little sight seeing. Arriving back in Houlton, the members sat down to a turkey dinner given by both clubs.

Following dinner the MOALs held their business meeting. Trophies and special awards were given, two of which went to members of the Molluskett chapter. Mrs. Richard Fraser received the "helper" award for the Dirigo region. One award is given to an auxiliary member in the three regions for keeping activities going in their particular region. Hugh Chapman won a prize of auto wax for achievement. Both awards were pleasant surprises for the members of the Molluskett chapter.

Following the MOALs business meeting the New Brunswick club held their meeting. After this members went to admire the antique auto collection of one of the Houlton MOALs. The members left Houlton at three o'clock Saturday afternoon, following Interstate 95 to Lewiston, then on to Bethel.
